

2024 Membership Application Form

We are the performing arts and entertainment trade union.

We're made up of 50,000 performers and creative practitioners. Together we push for better pay, terms and conditions in the workplace. We're there for our members when they face challenges too - with advice, support and representation.

Who can join Equity?

We represent actors, choreographers, comedians, dancers, drag artists, theatre directors, models, singers, stage management, storytellers, stunt performers and co-ordinators, theatre designers, theatre fight directors, TV and radio presenters, variety, circus, cabaret and light entertainment artists, voice artists and supporting artists.

Examples of professions we do not represent include writers, session musicians who do not sing, camera operators, sound engineers and fitness instructors.

Membership Types

Full membership – For those working or looking for work in the industry. Variable level of fees payable based on average earnings from industry in last three years.

Subsidised membership – For members earning an average annual income under £40,000 from the industry, over the last three years and either:

Your Union Membership

Membership brings a with it a range of benefits.

By being part of a collective of thousands of members, your individual membership means we have the power to negotiate better rates and terms for all our members. It also means we can offer benefits such as insurance at a significantly lower cost than market rates. So you can feel confident knowing you're always protected at work or while looking for work. For a list of full membership benefits and discounts visit www.equity.org.uk/join-us/membership-benefits.

Insurance Cover - Members are covered by Public Liability Insurance up to £10 million, Personal Accident Insurance and Backstage insurance, find out more on the insurance page of our website.

Access to rates & agreements - Equity staff and members work together to continually improve Equity agreed rates of pay and conditions. As a member, you can both have a say in those negotiations and have fast access to full contracts, rates of pay, agreements and templates.

Cradle-to-grave legal services and benefits - Free legal advice and 24 hr helpline, as well as access to cradle-to-grave legal services and benefits as well as support and representation in disputes over work, contracts and personal injury claims.

Workplace support, advice and guidance - From support, guidance and representation if you're being bullied or harassed, to workplace visits and information and advice on best practice and fair process at work your union is here for you.

Financial benefits - A range from financial benefits - from our specialist tax and welfare advice and Social Security and Tax Helpline, to access to grants from the Equity Benevolent Fund if you're facing financial hardship.

Your membership makes all of this possible.

You can make change happen when you stand together. For ways to get involved, visit www.equity.org.uk/getting-involved.

You – our members – are the union.

Thank you for being part of our movement of 50,000 performing artists and creative practitioners, who are together making the entertainment industry a better place to work.

Together, and only together, we can say:

To all artists: good work

To all workers: good art

To all people: Equity
